THE

6 Per Ct. Gold Bonds

OF THE

TOPEKA, SALINA AND WESTERN R. R.

The syndicate of Boston and New York capitalists interested in the building of this road having paid in the full amount subscribed, the work will be pushed forward with all possible speed. The road runs from Topeka to Dethi, 189 miles, through the great wheat belt of Kansas, a territory without adequate railroad facilities, and where a large amount of business is waiting for direct communication with the markets of the South and East.

$180,000 in cash will be expended for equipment to be placed on the road during the construction of the line, and $400,000 in bonds and $500,000 in stock will remain in the treasury when the road is completed, and will be used for additional equipment and improvements.

For $850 00 and accrued interest from Jan. 1, 1883, five shares of stock, par value $100 each, and a $1,000 bond will be given, the latter bearing interest from Jan. 1, 1883. The price will be advanced from time to time as the building of the road progresses.

The proceeds from the sale of bonds will be deposited with Tower, Giddings & Co. of Boston, for account of Post, Martin & Co., New York, who are the fiscal agents for the syndicate.

Money to pay the interest on all sold bonds, up to and including July 1, 1884, will be deposited in trust in a national Bank in Boston.

These bonds are worthy the attention of careful and prudent investors. Full information furnished on application to

LIVING WITNESSES

You can Avoid the biliousness of Spring by purification of the blood and the expulsion of foul humors. Impure blood gives you a pale, sickly color, with a dark, yellow tinge. The low temperature of a severe winter often leaves heavy, dark lines beneath your eyes. You are drowsy and sleepy. Be admonished. Take Hood's Sarsaparilla before the eruptions break through the skin.

Blood Disorder.

NEWARK, N. J., Jan. 13, 1883.

I TAKE pleasure in sending you a testimonial showing the efficacy of Hood's Sarsaparilla in a case of Blood Disorder, which came under my personal observation. It was a severe case, and the cure is regarded as wonderful.

F. K. MCCULLY,

Lafayette Pharmacy, Congress st.

A young girl, 9 years old, had been troubled with a disorder in her blood since infancy. Her sight, as well as her hearing, was affected. She was obliged to leave school, for none of the children would sit beside her. Her parents tried many medicines, and she was admitted a patient in one of our hospitals, but without relief. The mother had found Hood's Cook Book of value, and was impressed by the wonderful cures published in it. She resolved to try Hood's Sarsaparilla on her daughter. The result was most happy. On the second bottle the child began to improve, and after three bottles her sight and hearing returned. She has now used five bottles, and is about cured.

Lanced 10 Times.

LYME CENTRE, N. H., Feb. 9, 1883.

My little girl was sorely afflicted with Scrofula from 3 months old till she was 26, when we commenced giving her HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. So virulent was the Scrofula that the doctor had lanced her neck ten times. Then we thought it was time to do something. It was in February, 1882, that she began to take HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA. At that time there was a very large bunch on her little face. This we expected to open with the lancet, but, to our surprise, the bunch began to shrink under the influence of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and now it has entirely disappeared. It is gone. Baby is on her third bottle. She is in good flesh. Sores all gone, her appetite is good, and she seems as well as any child.

WM. H. CONANT.

ATTEST: I live neighbor to Mr. and Mrs. Conant, and have always known them and their little girl ever since she was born. The above statement I know to be true.

THEODORE BALCH.

Rheumatism.

Capt. Mitchell of the bark Antoine Sala, New York and Havana trade, came home in May, 1882, entirely helpless with rheumatism. He went to the mountains with his wife, at whose request Capt. Mitchell made use of Hood's Sarsaparilla. He commenced to improve rightaway under the influence of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and was soon able to return to Brooklyn. In two months from his first taking Hood's Sarsaparilla his rheumatism was gone, and he sailed in command of his vessel a well man. His wife writes: My husband is 48 years of age, and his health is now better than it has been for sometime; he has gained several pounds in weight. If any wish to inquire more particularly they can address MRS. M. I. MITCHELL, 701 Monroe street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

The great relief and release from suffering obtained in each of the following cases was due to the wonderful power of Hood's Sarsaparilla in purifying the blood, overcoming spring debility, sharpening the appetite, vitalizing and renovating the whole system. This results from its peculiar composition and manufacture. A medicine, like anything else, can be fairly judged by its results.

After Diphtheria.

HATTIE BURNS, my little girl, had the Diphtheria and got well of it. After that she was powerful sick in her bowels, and had fearful burtings in the small of her back. She was in great pain and distress. We called the doctor, who gave her powders. Upon my word the child grew worse. I had buried eight children, and was very uneasy to save my little girl, we were all so fond of her. But she would lie round the house and got no rest at all. Her insides seemed to be all given out. Ah! well, I didn't know what to do. I sent a neighbor's boy for a bottle of HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and that night I gave the little girl the first dose, and again in the morning. Before the day was out she was playing around the house. Her pains were gone. From that day till now she has been well and is wholly recovered. Her flesh has come back, she is fat as ever, and as mirthful and lively as before she was sick—full of spirits to the delight of us all.

MRS. JAMES BURNS,

46 Market Street, Lowell.

Mrs. Burns is the wife of James Burns, the well known and esteemed master slater in Lowell, Mass.

Salt Rheum.

My little four-year-old girl has a powerful eruption on her face and head. Under her eyes it was regular scalding red and sore like a burn. Back of her left ear we had to shave her hair close to her head. Five or six physicians and two hospitals gave up her case as incurable, save that she might outgrow it. When it began to maturate I became alarmed. In three weeks, with Hood's Sarsaparilla, the sores began to heal; two bottles made her eyes as clear as ever. To-day she is as well as I am.

JOHN CAREY,

164 D Street, South Boston.

Attest: I know John Carey. He is an honest, good man, whose statements are worthy of entire credit. I believe what he says about the child's sickness.

CLINTON H. COOK, Milk st., Boston.

The Lame Walk.

This certifies that I have been troubled with varicose veins and a scrofulous humor for the past 12 or 15 years—at times so severely as to compel me to use a crutch, or to abstain from business entirely. About four months since, upon the recommendation of one of my neighbors, I commenced using HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA, and have, up to the present time, used two bottles and a half of it. My leg is entirely healed, I gain daily in strength, and have at all times a good appetite. I can most cheerfully recommend it to any one who is suffering as I was.

C. M. FRENCH, Franklin, N. H.

Mr. French is well known in the upper part of Merrimac county, N. H., and inquiry may be freely made of his wonderful and surprising cure. He has discontinued his crutches, but will show them to any one who will call upon him.

"THE FATHER OF THE TARIFF."

SENATOR JUSTIN S. MORRILL IN HIS VERMONT HOME—REMINISCENCES OF LAST WINTER'S HARD WORK IN THE SENATE—THE HARM WHICH INJURIOUS FRIENDS OF TARIFF SOMETIMES CAUSE.

A Strafford, Vt., correspondent of the Boston Journal writes: Nestling in a narrow but beautiful valley and encircled by the verdure-clad hills of Orange county, in the Green Mountain State, lies the peaceful and pretty little hamlet of Strafford, the home of the father of the national tariff, Hon. Justin S. Morrill, the senior Senator of the State of Vermont. Lying far from the sound of the iron horse and with one main thoroughfare running through the village, the old town house, erected in 1798, standing at the head of the street, and the traditional country store and Post Office combined under one roof, where nearly half a century ago the Senator used to measure off ribbons and laces to the lassies, and the necessaries and luxuries of life to his rising constituency, this is the home, scarcely changed through all the vicissitudes of fifty years, of the Hon. Justin S. Morrill. It is a strictly rural community, the neat white-painted cottages surrounded by well-kept lawns and beds of flowers presenting a pastoral scene of rare attractiveness. Dust covered and oppressed by a heat which indicated ninety degrees in the shade, your correspondent drove down through the street of Strafford. Alighting opposite a handsome brown colored residence, with spacious grounds, shaded and embowered by trim and graceful elms and maples, I entered the charming estate of Hon. Justin S. Morrill. I found the distinguished Senator ensconced in his cosey library and received a cordial welcome.

"Yes," said Senator Morrill, "I have come back to this peaceful and beautiful village to rest and enjoy life after the severe and arduous cares and labors of the last session of Congress. The Senate never sat so many hours between December and March as during the last session, when its sittings exceeded those of the House by 100 hours."

"The debate and struggle engendered by the various tariff measures before Congress, and of which you had the charge in the Senate, must have been very wearisome and wearing to you," said the Journal correspondent to Senator Morrill.

"It was so," he answered. "At the outset of the sessions there seemed almost insurmountable obstacles in the way of a general tariff revision. Many Republicans said the time was too short, and they had little hope a revision could be effected before the session closed. The Democrats generally were averse to a revision on the part of the Republicans, and many of them questioned the sincerity of the purpose of those who favored tariff revision."

Senator Morrill, as Chairman of the committee, was indefatigable in his efforts, and the work of revision was faithfully adhered to night and day for many weeks, and in spite of all opposition the Conference bill was carried through. The Senator thinks the present bill is the best one that was possible under the circumstances, and while there are imperfections in the measure, it is pretty certain that nothing more just or perfect is likely to be produced by another Congress, and that as a whole the present bill is satisfactory to the industries of the country. He believes the Tariff bill as it stands now will remain unchanged for some time, and the Senator said he did not believe the next Democratic House would make any serious attempt to further revise the tariff. The business interests of the country require a cessation of all agitation on the tariff question. "After the adjournment of Congress," said the Senator, "I made an extended trip through Virginia, Alabama and Tennessee, and visited the iron and coal-producing regions in these States. I found a remarkable development of mills and industrial works in these States, and capitalists and laborers expressed themselves as well satisfied with the tariff bill as passed. There was universal prosperity in that section of the South."

Your correspondent mentioned the fact that no one had answered the article appearing in the New York Tribune in which the Senator replied to certain charges and strictures brought against tariff revision and the action of the Senate Conference Committee by Senator Sherman. "I have seen no answer to that letter," said Senator Morrill. "The article in question was written to vindicate the action of the Conference Committee and to correct some false impressions that had been created through the country by opponents of tariff revision relative to certain articles."

The Senator, as is well known, is a high protectionist, but he says the great error of some friends of a protective tariff is that they are inclined to ask too much, and if their demands are acceded to, they have to meet not only too much home competition, but also well-grounded opposition, because the duties are excessive. So far as the wool interest in Vermont is concerned, the Senator thinks that the present flourishing condition of the wool market and the depressed state of woolens should effectually dispose of any charge that the manufacturers had been better provided for than the wool growers. The State produces about 2,500,000 pounds of wool annually. The specific duty of 10 and 12 cents per pound on wool is the most trustworthy protection the wool-grower ever had. The relative changes in the cotton, woolen and metal schedules in many instances are inconsiderable. Some modifications might also have been made in other cases, providing there had been sufficient time and votes to have brought them about.

"I believe your connection with tariff measures dates back to ante bellum days," queried the Journal correspondent.

"It was about a quarter of a century ago that the necessity of a tariff for revenue became absolute. The United States Treasury was empty and the Government had been obliged to borrow large sums of money for current expenses. It was a short time previous to the breaking out of civil war and when I was a member of the lower house that a new tariff measure was devised and passed by the House. The next session the Tariff bill, as passed in the House, went through the Senate, its passage relieved the bankruptcy to a certain extent of the Government. About this time the Rebellion came on and the demand for additional revenue was imperative, and the tariff bill was [illegible] increased [illegible] 'impost' [illegible] made [illegible] been greatly reduced until now it is probably as low as it can be consistently with the demands of Government, and affording necessary and just protection to American industries."

During the war Hon. Justin S. Morrill represented Vermont in the lower house, and was associated with Thaddeus Stevens on the Ways and Means Committee. Representative Morrill was intrusted with the preparation and management of all tariff bills, and the famous Morrill Tariff bill was considered a timely and well considered measure. Senator Morrill took his seat first in the House of Representatives in the Thirty-fourth Congress. This was twenty-eight years ago. He served six consecutive Congressional terms, up to 1867, when he was elected United States Senator, and at the expiration of his present term, March 4, 1885, he will have served eighteen years in the Senate. As Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Senate he occupies a foremost position in that body. Senator Morrill has been closely identified with all the tariff legislation in this country for a quarter of a century.

The Senator has a fine library at his Strafford home, and amid its rich treasures hang fine steel portraits of Washington, Lincoln, Grant, and other patriots and defenders of the republic. In the hallway is an excellent oil painting of Senator Morrill, done when the Senator was fifty-six years old—seventeen years ago.

IN REMEMBRANCE OF ANDERSONVILLE.

RESPONSE OF REV. W. J. HAMILTON TO THE THANKS OF THE G. A. R. OF MAINE.

The following Circular from Department Headquarters G. A. R. explains itself:

HEADQ'RS DEPT. OF MAINE, G. A. R.
LEWISTON, ME., June 4, 1883.

CIRCULAR, NO. 1.

I. This Department at its annual meeting in February last, at Auburn, passed a "Vote of thanks" to the Very Rev. Wm. John Hamilton, of Mobile, Ala., for his kind and humane conduct towards our Union prisoners confined at Andersonville. This testimonial was prepared by Past Department Commander A. C. Hamlin, of Bangor, suitably framed and forwarded by express to Father Hamilton. The following letter was received acknowledging the receipt of the same, and is now published for circulation in the Department and elsewhere.

II.

CATHEDRAL, MOBILE, May 21, 1883.

DEAR SIR,—I owe you an humble apology for not having acknowledged the receipt of your esteemed favor ere this. When your letter and the testimonial reached here I was quite sick at the Providence Infirmary in this city, kept by the Sisters of Charity, and though one of the good sisters offered to write you in my name, yet I preferred to wait for a short time, that I might personally express with my own hand my gratitude and high appreciation of your great and noble conduct. And as the present is the first moment that I am able to hold my pen, I avail myself of it to offer you and your noble comrades my sincere and unfeigned thanks for your kind and considerate attention.

This compliment and memento that the soldiers of Maine have offered me for the poor services that I was able to extend to the unfortunate prisoners at Andersonville has, I am happy to say, produced a most favorable impression on the minds of the people of this intensely Southern city, and indeed all over the entire South. They little expected that gratitude for past favors should have a place in a State so thoroughly "Yankey" as that of Maine. "Can anything good come out of Nazareth," is as firmly believed to-day by some of our people as it was in the time of our Blessed Lord. And hence your remembrance of favors that were done to some of your comrades nearly twenty years ago in that den of infamy and torture, not only rebukes these people, but has tended more than anything since the war to bring about, at least in Alabama, a better feeling of kindness and respect towards the people of the North. There is not a cloud but has its silver lining, let us hope, and pray that Andersonville's silver lining may be found in that charity and forbearance which the North and South will mutually cultivate and cherish for each other.

For my own part I can honestly confess that this was my feeling the eleven dreary months that I spent in that miserable place. I asked no man his creed, nationality, or politics. I saw nothing there but despair, suffering, and neglect, and being a man myself I naturally felt interested in everything that concerned humanity. When the Catholic asked for my priestly ministrations he got them, when the Protestant asked for relief and assistance from me as a man he got it, even when it was necessary, as sometimes happened, to give him my coat from my back or my stockings from my feet. This is the only comfort that I now have when I look back upon Andersonville, viz., that in all my time there I treated every man as a brother, made by the same God, redeemed by the same precious Blood, and intended for the same glorious destiny.

You will please then convey to your worthy comrades my warm and sincere thanks for the beautiful testimonial of which they have made me the recipient, and assure them that as I look upon it I shall breathe a prayer to the good God for their temporal and eternal welfare.

Yours in Christ,

WM. JOHN HAMILTON.

A Paris despatch says:—The marriage of Beatrice Rothschild to M. Maurice Ephrussi produced a tremendous sensation in Paris, and the accounts of the various splendors of the occasion, of the illustrious guests, of the incredible wealth and beauty, of presents, and the plutocratic marvels of the allied families, quite equal the stories of the Czar's coronation. The Ephrussis are in eastern what the Rothschilds are in western Europe, and the union is more significant and important than the weddings of half a dozen royalties. The Jewish temple on the rue de la Victoire was besieged by over 2000 guests in wedding attire, provided with cards of invitation to witness the religious ceremony of the marriage of Maurice Ephrussi, the banker, whose racing colors are well known on the French turf, to Mlle. Beatrice Rothschild, daughter of Baron Alphonse.

The synagogue was splendidly decorated with crimson and gold drapery in oriental profusion, rare exotics, plants and flowers. Soon after the twelve gates of the tabernacle were thrown open there was a general rush of several hundred for the interior. The dashing carriages and pairs, with brilliant liveried coachmen and footmen, who, by the way, here wear boutonnieres, were continually arriving, bearing pretty women and still prettier toilets. The bride drove up in a large armorial carriage drawn by bay percherons. A hum of admiration greeted her pageant, which combined Parisian grace and oriental splendor, creating an effect that was dazzling in the rays of the noonday sun and never to be forgotten. On entering the synagogue the Parisians removed their hats, but the Hebrews reminded them that Hebrews always remain covered in the presence of Jehovah, just as the favored Spanish grandees remain covered in the presence of the King.

The ceremony lasted nearly two hours. The grand rabbi of France, M. Isidor, and Zadoc Kahn, the rabbi of Paris, officiated. Two hundred choristers, soloists from the opera and conservatory [illegible] companist. Six bridesmaids, followed by six trainbearers, took up a collection while M. Lassalle and the chorus chanted the 128th Psalm. The bridegroom then placed the ring on the finger of the bride, saying: "Te voila consacree a moi en vertu de cet anneau conformement a la loi de Moise et d'Israel." Levy then, with his fine tenor voice, sung the "Imlach." The chief rabbi, holding the cup of consecrated wine in his right hand, pronounced, in a sonorous voice, the seven Hebrew benedictions, set to music by an Arab musician. The married couple then advanced to the sanctuary and broke a large crystal goblet, a symbol of the fragility of all things human. Returning to the nave of the tabernacle, they received the congratulations of the guests, while the choirs and harpists performed the spirited allegro, "Hallelujah" of Eplanger.

The bride is eighteen years of age, in figure svelte and of transparent complexion. She wore a dress of white satin with a train of more than usual length. This terminated in three points, the centre one being trimmed with orange blossoms. Her veil was of point a laiguille lace. Among the many noticeable dresses of the trousseau was one of cream-colored velours epingle with a very long train, the front of draped crepe, with the same color around the train, which had a wide border of variegated vine leaves, the tints ranging from dark green to russet red. The leaves were of velvet. On the left side of the jupe was a large cluster of velvet leaves. The corsage was pointed and decoliete, trimmed with a garland of vine leaves. Baron Rothschild gave his daughter $300,000 to buy furniture with and $5,000 a month to keep house. During the ten days preceding the wedding the bride received over 1,100 letters from destitute young ladies asking alms, and there was no one but received an answer.

The late train was backing out of the Maine Central lower station, Lewiston, Thursday afternoon, Engineer Hammond was standing on the platform and the engine was in the hands of the fireman. Mr. Hammond says that he just happened to look up when he saw just in front of the tender a little girl not more than three years old, standing on the track looking out of the open doors of the depot. The engine wasn't a dozen feet from her and the fireman couldn't see her. Mr. Hammond jumped from the platform, shouted to the fireman to "throw the engine over," and grabbed the child almost from under the wheels.

The President has appointed the following commissioners on the part of the United States to the World Industrial and Cotton Exposition: Thomas Hardeman, jr., S. H. Buck, Duncan F. Kenner, John V. The prospect now seems to be a fair one for the domestication of the cocoanut tree on the Florida coast, for a Philadelphia importing firm has received an order for 110,000 cocoanuts, to be sent to Florida to be planted along the coast for that purpose. Pineapples are already a regular Florida crop, and a few years hence we shall begin to hear of the crop of Florida cocoanuts.

The seventeenth annual convention of the American Institute of Architects will be held with the Rhode Island Chapter, in Providence and Newport, from the 29th to the 31st of next August. There are members of this organization in nearly every State in the Union, including California. Many of the most eminent architects in the United States will be present at this convention.

In speaking of the coming election in Ohio the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette says there will be a severe contest, but we believe in the election of Foraker and the Republican ticket, not only because of its merits, but, because the opposition are without an affirmative policy, or a record from which good works may be predicted and may be depended upon to blunder most egregiously, both in the nominations they make and the uncertainties they may advocate.

The leading Democrats and business men of New Orleans, have winked at, when they have not encouraged, outrages upon the colored voters of Louisiana. Elections in that State have been in their details a tragedy, and in their results a farce, but their has been no protest on the part of thousands of the men of that city who claim to be called "good citizens." Now they find that the same machinery which has been used to deprive the Republicans of their political rights, has been in operation for spoliation of their own city. They are now talking about the necessity of honest "elections" with an earnestness strongly in contrast with their supiness in recent years. They will, of course, find relief, but it will come, when, and not before, the Republicans of that State are permitted to enjoy their political rights. When these men care enough about an honest municipal government for their city to accept of the black voter as an ally, there will be a political millennium for both.—Boston Traveller.

One of the neatest yarns which have bus far diversified a not particularly dull season is told by the Nashville American. On the day of the Czar's coronation a night blooming cereus in the capital of Tennessee burst into bloom. This sudden efflorescence was in itself somewhat surprising, for the plant had not betrayed any previous symptoms of what was about to happen, and, moreover, a night-blooming cereus, whatever its actual habit may be, is never expected to blossom at broad noon. But these slight eccentricities might have been overlooked if Mrs. Ewing, the owner of the plant, had not made a discovery which will immortalize every incident and individual connected therewith. As the petals unfolded they revealed in the centre of the flower an imperial crown, so delicate and so complete as to change admiration into awe. What could the symbol mean? No one could tell; but when the Nashville American appeared the next morning with a two-column account of the coronation at Moscow, the mystery was solved. But the strangest thing of all remains to be told. The plant whose blossom typified the great event in Russia has grown from a slip cut in the Czar's pleasure garden at St. Petersburg many years ago by the Rev. P. S. Fall, formerly of Nashville, but now of Lexington, Ky. That is the whole story, and it would be hard to find its equal in the history of hot-weather fabrications.

MR. BLAINE'S VIEWS.

A Washington letter to the New York Sun, which was copied into the Portland Press a few days since, represented ex-Secretary Blaine as poking fun at the Administration and saying that only accident can prevent Democratic success in 1884. As might have been supposed the N. Y. Sun is not a very trustworthy exponent of Mr. Blaine's views, and the Press now states that the Sun correspondent entirely misstates or misunderstands Mr. Blaine's sentiments and utterances, and does that gentleman great injustice. The Press states by authority "that while Mr. Blaine did not agree with President Arthur's views in relation to South American matters, he is on very friendly terms with the President and speaks of him with high regard. It may also be stated that Mr. Blaine believes that in 1884 the great issue will be the tariff question; that the people of this country favor the protective policy, and will therefore keep the Republican party in power. The people will hear from Mr. Blaine in the next Presidential contest and he will deal effectual blows for the success of the Republican ticket. He is confident of its success and takes as much interest in political events as he ever did. Whoever says to the contrary grossly misrepresents him."

IN A TIGHT PLACE.
[New York Tribune.]

It is your turn now, Messrs. Democrats of Ohio. Republicans have avowed their opinions plainly and manfully. Do the Democrats dare to meet them in the same fashion? No one expects it. When the Kentucky Democrats stooped to a cheap evasion, it was felt that a higher courage was not to be expected from the same party in the doubtful States. The nomination of Judge Hoadly would be an evasion in itself. Yet that is said to be well-nigh certain. He is not a Democrat; neither is he a Republican. His opinions are not in harmony with those of any political party, and he has served on either side so often that his weak points are known to both. He is a political acrobat, capable of interesting feats in ground and lofty tumbling, but for that very reason his nomination would be a confession that the Democratic party wants to dodge its own past history and to hide under hatches its own real convictions. Perhaps that would be an expedient thing to do. But it is open to question at least, whether cunning in dodging is the one quality that the country is most inclined at this time to appreciate and reward.

More than once already the Democrats of Ohio have tried their fortunes with a candidate of mixed antecedents, variable opinions and uncertain aims. On every such occasion they have failed to cast anywhere near the full party strength. After every such defeat they have attributed the result to the dissatisfaction or disgust of a part of their own voters, apparently with some reason. A nomination of a candidate who is not a Democrat, made because he is not a Democrat, and for the express purpose of catching some voters who are not Democrats, is apt to lose more than it gains where the old-fashioned and "brass mounted" members of the party have once acquired the faculty of resenting an insult to their opinions. The voters who followed Vallandigham and Thurman and Allen, it may be imagined, have some little feeling when it is proposed to disinfect the party by taking out of it all that used to be considered Democratic.

The difficulty, however, is chronic. The world in which we live has not grown up under Democratic ideas or policies. Soft money and repudiation have not shaped its financial condition; hatred of corporations has not prevented the multiplication of banks or railroads; the fondness for "patriarchal institutions" has not excluded immigration; free-trade has not prevented diversification of industry or the uprising of hundreds of establishments where manufactures thrive because discriminating duties for protection have been levied and maintained. In short, in Ohio as in other Northern States, the state of civilization that actually exists is essentially a product of Republican policies and teachings. We have banks and railroads, mines, furnaces and factories, because Republican ideas have for many years prevailed in the Government. Now what is an unhappy Democrat to do? Shall he avow his old Democratic ideas? If so, he makes war on the existing civilization. Or shall he accept and rejoice in the existing civilization with all its magnificent triumphs? If so, he makes war upon the Democratic past, tramples on its traditions, rejects its ideas and insults the memory of its departed leaders.

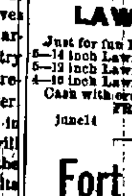

It is singular that the Democrats themselves do not seem to comprehend this political cul de sac into which they have marched. Still trying to get on where there is no thoroughfare, they smash their heads year after year against the solid walls that rise before and around them, and seem amazed because it hurts. But if any of them try to about-face or back out, the rearmost battalions denounce them and tread them down as deserters from "time-honored Democratic principles."

The party can keep silence, after a fashion, about slavery, or the rebellion, or colored suffrage, or soft money or repudiation or other questions that have been sufficiently settled. But it cannot shirk the tariff question in the same way. There are a great many Democrats who refuse to believe that question settled. These clamor for a reversal of the policy of the Government. They insist that the party shall set itself against the magnificent industrial development of the past twenty years. It is false to itself, to its history and its creed, these men affirm, if it does not go to work at once to tear down the factories, to put out the furnace fires, and to fill up the mines. These results, the civilized world knows, must flow from the policy that they demand, and yet they have no patience with any Democrat who is not uncompromising and outspoken in his hostility to the protective system. The root of the difficulty is that a large section of the Democratic party, including those who are most faithful to its teachings and creed, are utterly out of harmony with the civilization and the progress of the age in which we live. It will be interesting to see what they propose to do about it in Ohio.

THE NEW HAMPSHIRE SENATORSHIP.

The Boston Journal's Concord, N. H., special of June 11, says: "The Senatorial contest over Mr. Rollins's successor is increasing in interest, although there is not a large number of Representatives in Concord this evening. There are, however, some active men here who are doing their best work for their favorites. The caucus will probably be held on Thursday evening, for the first ballot in the Legislature must take place June 19. The working candidates are now understood to be only five: Hon. E. H. Rollins, Hon. J. F. Briggs, Gen. A. F. Stevens, Gen. Gilman Marston and Hon. J. W. Patterson. This evening Mr. Rollins's supporters are claiming his nomination on the first ballot over all others. The remaining candidates admit that Mr. Rollins will lead on the first trial, but predict his defeat in the end. It is reported that some Representatives, who do not favor a caucus for the Senatorial nomination, are holding a conference this evening to look over the situation, but your correspondent by diligent search is not able to discover any such gathering. Major Briggs says that he favors a caucus and shall do his best to secure a full one. Secretary Chandler is here."

COMPLIMENTARY. "My hair is now restored to its youthful color; I have not a gray hair left. I am satisfied that the preparation is not a dye, but acts on the secretions. MANHOOD.

KNOW THYSELF.
A Book for Every Man!
Young, Middle-aged and Old!

The untold miseries that result from indiscretion in early life may be alleviated and cured. Those who doubt this assertion should purchase the new medical work published by the PEABODY MEDICAL INSTITUTE, Boston, entitled THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; or, Self-Preservation. Exhausted Vitality, Nervous and Physical Debility, Premature Decline in Man, or Vitality Impaired by the Errors of Youth, or too close application to business, may be restored and manhood regained.

28th edition, revised and enlarged, just published. It is a standard medical work, the best in the English language, written by a physician of great experience, to whom was awarded a gold and jewelled medal by the National Medical Association. It contains beautiful and very expensive engravings. 300 pages, more than 125 valuable prescriptions for all forms of diseases, acute and chronic, the result of many years of extensive and successful practice, either one of which is worth ten times the price of the book. Bound in beautiful French cloth, embossed, full gilt. Price only $1.25; by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price. Illustrated sample six cents. Send now.

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR, SELF-PRESERVATION,

THE SCIENCE OF LIFE; OR SELF-PRESERVATION,
is a marvel of art and beauty, warranted to be a better medical book in every sense than can be obtained elsewhere for double the price, or the money will be refunded in every instance.—Author.

FIRE IN A COAL MINE.

Loss Some $60,000.

BRAIDWOOD, Ill., June 12. At 1.30 o'clock last night fire broke out in shaft G in this city and has been raging ever since. The fire department labored all last night to extinguish the flames, but without success Violent explosions were heard during the night. Thirty-two mules were burned to death. The shaft is one of the most valuable in the coal fields, and was worked solely by negroes. No loss of life resulted. The loss to property is $60,000.

CROOK'S CAMPAIGN.

A Grand Success.

He Returns With 383 Prisoners.

TUCSON, Arizona, June 12. A courier arrived at Tombstone Monday night from Crook's headquarters at Silver Creek, Arizona, bringing the first official information of Crook's expedition. It left American soil on the 3d of May, marching 200 miles southeast from San Bernardino on the boundary line of Chihuahua and Sonoro, following the trail of the hostiles. Crook was guided by the Apache, Nadaski, who was captured near San Carlos, just previous to the expedition leaving. About 200 miles south of the line the command crossed the Sierra Medras range and advanced through fifty miles of indescribable rough trail, eight mules being killed by falling over precipices, and pressed on without delay, rendered nearly barefoot by the sharp rocks. After fourteen days hard marching night and day the Indian camps of Chato and Bonito were discovered in the heart of the Sierra Madras, in an almost impregnable position. The Apaches did not dream of attack for the entrance to their stronghold was next to impossible, and the warriors were principally out on a raid under Juh, only 37 bucks being in camp with women and children.

The San Carlos Scouts

under Capt Crawford and Lieuts. Atwood and Mackey, the chiefs of scouts surrounded the camp before the hostiles were aware of their proximity, advancing from different points and were near them before they were discovered. The scouts secreted themselves behind rocks and commenced firing upon the camp, creating a perfect panic, A number succeeded in escaping, though nearly all surrendered Seven were found dead in the camp. Five Mexican women and and a little girl were recaptured. They were taken from Coomen and Chihuahua, and are now with Crook in good health. Everything in the camp was burned or carried off by the scouts. Among the property captured were 100 ponies and mules, forty being loaded with plunder, saddles, girths, clothing, gold and silver and greenbacks, showing they had been very successful in their raid. After the fight most of those who escaped came in.

Altogether

383 prisoners were taken. The chiefs captured were Chato, Bonito, Geronimo, Nachez, Loco and Nana The chiefs say that an American boy, six years old, captured a month ago in Mexico, is with the squaws in the mountains, he is no doubt Chas. McComas. After the fight the command with the prisoners marched leisurely back to American soil and the entire command with the prisoners is now encamped on Silver Creek, about sixty miles south of Tombstone. Not one of Crook's command was lost during the campaign The courier states that the reason that Crook remains at Silver Creek is that he is awaiting news from the Secretary of War as to what disposition he shall make of

as Mr Wilcox, agent at San Carlos, refused to receive them and he (Crook) will go back to Sierra Madres after the rest of the hostiles if they do not come out In conversation with the courier he stated that the hostiles had plenty of money Quite a number of the bucks had silver stars and other ornaments beaten out of Mexican dollars on their head gear, while several had American double eagles made into necklaces. A rough estimate of the wealth among them is given at $5 0 0 and probably more. The troops state that the place where the capture occurred is the prettiest spot on earth and the road leading to it rougher than mortal man ever trod A large number of the hostiles seemed pleased with the situation, evidently expecting immediate return to San Carlos reservation. The only complaint was from some squaws whose bucks were among those who made their escape. The officers of the expedition stated that Crook had surrounded the Indians before they were aware of his presence, and that if he had not done so it would have taken six months and all the men in Arizona to have captured them of Gen Crook's modesty and total absence of fuss and feathers in his make up it may be stated that although the capture occurred the 17th of last month he leisurely retraced his steps to Camp Supply at Silver Creek, not sending a courier ahead to signal his movements. The first intimation of Crook's return was the arrival of a Lieutenant at Col Biddler's headquarters at 8 A. M. Sunday with despatches from Camp Bowie, the nearest army telegraph station Upon making inquiry concerning the General who was supposed to be 100 miles distant, imagine the surprise to the camp when informed that Crook was only two hours behind with the captured Apaches. The reported loss to the Indians in the fight was seven bucks, and a Lieutenant whose name is unknown was the only person wounded in Crook's command, and he but slightly.

As an Illustration

CALIFORNIA

The Scientific Expedition

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12 The scientific expedition sent by the government in March last to observe the total eclipse of the sun at Carolina Island in South Pacific has returned to this city. Prof. Edward S Holden, of Washburn Observatory, of Madison, Wis, is in charge of the party. They reported the weather the day of the eclipse was perfect for observing purposes and the result is a great success. Several good photographs of the Corona and Spectrum were obtained It was supposed the planet Vulcan could not be found The party arrived home in good health. It will be remembered this expedition went from New York to Lima, Peru, and thence for a voyage of some weeks in the United States sloop, Hartford, to Carolina Island to observe the eclipse of May 6, 1883.

Judge Wylie's Charge

WASHINGTON, June 12. Soon after the Court convened this morning Judge Wylie began his charge to the jury in the Star Route trial. He said the jury should decide the case on the evidence, allowing neither public opinion nor the appeals of the counsel of the defendants to influence their verdict The law was supreme and must be obeyed. No public officer has a right to set up his own policy against the policy of the law. This is a charge of conspiracy, said Judge Wylie, and he read from the Revised Statutes to define a conspiracy. There must be two or more persons to conspire and they must have a common purpose.

A man might do something to further the objects of a conspiracy and yet not be in it; he may not have the confidence of the others. This case afforded an example in Peck, who may have been a member of the combination, but the Court was willing to believe he was not After weighing all the facts the jury must infer from them whether or not there was a conspiracy. If there were facts in the case tending to a different conclusion from the majority of facts they must be considered of course, but due regard must be had to the weight of the evidence.

Although not a bidder. Senator Dorsey seemed to be the most active man, not only in preparing bids but in carrying out the contracts. If he had a sinister and unlawful view he was as guilty as if he had contracts. It was for the jury to say whether they had a corrupt purpose If it was a lawful business then it was all right. If Peck and John Dorsey knew it to be an unlawful combination, with a criminal purpose, yet agreed to further its objects, then their going out did not release them from conspiracy.

The jury must find an overt act committed by some one of the defendants after May 20, 1879 A difficulty arose about that point. Most of the alleged fraudulent petitions (and they bore that appearance on their faces) were filed before the date spoken of On route No. 34,149 a false petition was charged to have been filed July 10, 1879, but the evidence was that it was filed April 3, 1879, and it seemed that it was barred by statute But here another question arose Whether the parties interested in procuring an order in using the false petition filed April 3, 1879, to secure an order July 10, 1879, had not committed an act in pursuance of conspiracy. He should hold to the proposition that a party availing of a false paper to secure an order on a certain day would not be protected by the fact that it had been filed before that day.

In referring to the criticisms of the indictment Judge Wylie said he would hold the indictment to be sufficient as against the defendants, including Brady, Judge Wylie then turned to the printed prayers to comment on those not already disposed of in his preceding remarks. Of the sixth prayer of the Government, urging it as a suspicious circumstance that Brady obtained pay for increased service to the full amount allowed by law, he said that everything depended on the strength of the contractor's oath. There never was a law more insufficiently guarded than the law providing for expeditions.

There was no law requiring an affidavit, but the practice had gradually ripened into a regulation calling for an affidavit The affidavit on the Tongue river route was highly monstrous and Brady did not accept it, but he allowed a liberal compensation about $37 per mile, for service The other prayers for the Government followed. Touching the amount of credence to be given to Rerdell's testimony, Judge Wylie said that it was not to be discredited because it was that of an accomplice, if it was corroborated by other witnesses and sustained by the material theory and aspect of the case

In considering the testimony given by the defendants the jury must make an allowance for the temptation to which they were exposed. He could not grant the Government's prayer that jury be directed to regard as a circumstance tending to prove their guilt the refusal of the defence to produce books and other written evidence upon notice, that was not the law Of the failure to call Bosler and Williamson the Court said the jury was at liberty to draw an inference if they believed that those witnesses could have given important evidence.

Judge Wylie proceeded to answer such of those prayers for the defence as were designated by that side The jury was instructed that it was their duty to find that there was no conspiracy if the facts proven could be accounted for by any reasonable hypothesis of innocence based on the evidence. Many of the remaining prayers for the defence were refused and the remainder withdrawn.

Mr. Davidge, in behalf of his client, S W. Dorsey, noted exceptions to different passages of the charge by the Court, and Wilson did the same for Gen. Brady. At Bliss' suggestion the jury were instructed that they might find a conspiracy between Peck and one of the defendants

The foreman asked that the jury be furnished a copy of the charge, but Judge Wylie smilingly said that it was "all in the air" He had no record of it. If the jury were at a loss in regard to any point of law, the Court upon their application would relieve them. Bailiffs were then sworn to take charge of the jury and place them in some retired room without fire and light.

"Especially fire," said Ingersoll. (laughter.)

A copy of the indictment was given to the jury and they retired at 3.45 o'clock P M. The Court then took recess until 10 o'clock to-morrow morning with the understanding that if the jury arrive at a verdict before 10 o'clock to night the Court will be reassembled to receive it.

Locked Up for the Night

The jury at ten o'clock had not agreed upon a verdict and were locked up for the night.

Internal Revenue Districts

The Cabinet meeting to-day was short and unimportant Secretaries Chandler and Lincoln and Postmaster General Gresham were absent After the meeting adjourned the President had a long conference with Secretary Folger in regard to the question of reorganizing and consolidating the internal revenue districts so as to meet the requirements of the law.

The Two Great Trials.

Although the Star Route trial has not yet ended, the record up to this point is the largest ever made in a criminal trial in this country. Printed in small type, and of octavo size, it comprises over 6,000 pages, or about four and one-quarter millions of words. The report of the preliminary proceedings up to the date when the taking of testimony began covered 463 pages, and the direct testimony for the prosecution occupied 2,318 pages. Mr Merrick delivered the longest speech of the trial, lasting nine days, and covering 2— pages of the record. The record of the Guiteau trial comprised 2,700 pages, and was regarded as of extraordinary length, but becomes quite insignificant when compared with this enormous record.

CHILDREN'S DAY IN DEXTER A correspondent writes: The "Children's Day" has came to be quite an institution in the M. E. Church. Falling on June 10th this year the weather proved unfavorable, but, nevertheless, the day was very generally kept. In Dexter the day was observed with considerable interest. The rain made the number of children less but the church was bright with flowers and rang with the song of birds. The sermon in the forenoon to the children was upon "The Little Hebrew Maid" her history and its lessons. In the evening a regular "Children's Day" concert was given in which the children, bore a prominent part. All through the responsive readings their songs came in with fine effect. The closing exercises by the Infant Class were very fine. Two songs were finely rendered by them and some single pieces were pleasingly given. Mable Sawyer gave "Mother's Little Girl" Freddie Jewett gave "Sowing your Seed." Daisy Marsh gave "June and Children's Day," all with naturalness and ease. E. M. Miss Snowe's Benefit

The complimentary benefit tendered to Miss Anna B Snowe by her classes in elocution drew to Unity Hall, last evening, a very large and intelligent audience, who were favored with an entertainment of marked excellence

The programme opened with a well delivered recitation by Master Henry P Godfrey. A recitation "How Miss Edith Helps Them Along" was charmingly presented by little Miss Marcia Kimball. Mrs W F Shaw sang O Luce di Quest Anima, from Linda di Chamouni and she appeared at her very best giving a magnificent rendition A recitation "A Naughty Little Girl's Views of Life" was very creditably given by Miss Louie Gatchell. The next attraction was the appearance of Miss Anna B Snowe and the difficult recitation "Aux Italiens" was given by her with remarkable effectiveness and at the close, in response to thoroughly deserved applause, she gave a humorous selection During the past year Miss Snowe has improved in many notable particulars and an unusually promising future seems to be in store for her in her chosen profession. The first part of the programme was brought to a close with some brilliantly executed cornet solos by Mr R. B Hall, "Facilita" was given and "Fair Harvard" was played when recalled. The piano accompaniments during the evening were skillfully executed by Miss Abbie N. Garland.

The farce, "A Thorn Among the Roses" concluded the enjoyable entertainment The cast of characters embraced the following members of Miss Snowe's classes Mrs E. M Hayes, Mrs H F Tefft, Miss Edith Marsh Miss Nellie White, Miss Mabel Haynes, Miss May Allen, Miss Nellie Kidder, Miss Mary Alexander, Mr. E S Bowler and Mr T. H. Donigan. The play was given a smooth and very acceptable rendition, reflecting credit alike upon the participants and the talented instructor who has had them in charge.

Miss Snowe leaves Bangor to-day for the summer and it is yet uncertain whether she will return here in the fall or choose some larger field of usefulness. During her stay in our city she has gained the good will of our people by her many estimable qualities and as a public reader and instructor in elocution has achieved marked success.

OLDTOWN'S WATER POWER

A Public Meeting of Citizens of Oldtown—Addressed by Representatives of the Bodwell Water Power Company—Favorable Action Taken.

A public meeting of the citizens of Oldtown was held in the Town Hall, in that village, yesterday forenoon, in pursuance of a call signed by the selectmen.

The attendance was very large and the hall was thronged with representative citizens. The meeting was presided over by Geo. T. Sewall, Esq, and Mr. J. W. Waldron officiated as clerk. Hon. J. R. Bodwell, Charles Hamlin, Esq., Charles V. Lord, Esq, Hon. Wm. B. Hayford and Hon. Francis Cobb, of the Bodwell Water Power Company, were present. The citizens were addressed by President Bodwell, Mr. Hamlin and Mr. Hayford and responses were made on the part of Oldtown by David Norton, Esq, H. A. Pratt, Esq., and J. A. Blanchard, Esq.

The representatives of the Bodwell Water Power Company stated their position frankly and it was the unanimous feeling of the assemblage to greet them in a generous spirit. The meeting voted to instruct the assessors of real estate and their successors in office not to increase the rate of taxation or advance the valuation of the property which the Bodwell Water Power Company now hold, or which they may acquire, from the present rate and valuation for ten years; and furthermore, not to increase the rate of taxation or advance the valuation, within such time, of any property which the said company may convey to any manufacturing company, not including lots sold for private building purposes. It was also voted to discontinue Wood street from Front street to Brunswick street, the Upper Stillwater road from Front street to Brunswick street, and Front street from Middle street to its intersection with Brunswick street, to allow proper building sites for the proposed mills. It was voted that the ... instructed to take all ... which it is proposed to erect a $600,000 cotton mill there is a territory of land which the Bodwell Water Power Company require before they can go ahead with their enterprise, and, if unsuccessful in securing it, the probable outcome will be the erection of the proposed mills on the Milford side. At a meeting of the Directors in Oldtown yesterday the company voted to give $35,000 and no more for the purchase of this tract, but with the boom which has been started in real estate in Oldtown the several owners ask a much higher price. A subscription has been started by citizens of Oldtown towards the purchase of this land for the Bodwell Company and it has been headed by Major Joseph L. Smith with $1,000 and David Norton, Esq, $500. It now rests with the real estate owners of Oldtown to say whether or no large mills shall be established there.

A DESTRUCTIVE FIRE

Ice House of Dirigo Ice Company with Over 10,000 Tons of Ice Destroyed

During Monday night the large ice house of the Dirigo Ice Company situated on the west shore of the Penobscot, nearly five miles from this city, in Hampden, was destroyed by fire and its crystal contents damaged so as to be worthless

The fire was first discovered by neighbors between nine and ten o'clock in the evening. Little could be done to quiet the flames and no word was brought to this city till some time during Tuesday forenoon The fire continued to smoulder throughout yesterday. The ice house is totally destroyed and the contents are now valueless. The tool house escaped and the wharf is uninjured.

The ice house was built in the summer of '80 and was one of the most substantial constructed on the Penobscot. It was 200 feet in length, 100 feet in width, 65 feet in height, and had a capacity of about 13 000 tons. It was nearly filled with fine ice in the winter of '81, and at the time of the fire there were between 10 000 and 11,000 tons in the establishment

The Dirigo Ice Company is officered as follows: President, Frank Frost, Treasurer, Wm. Frost, Secretary, Geo. F. Snow, Directors, Frank Frost, Wm Frost, Henry Lord, Geo F Snow and E C. Pearson The ice house cost about $8 000, and the entire plant, including the wharf, various buildings and ice, represents an outlay of about $18 000

The insurance on the property amounts to $14,000, being divided as follows $6 000 in the agency of Wiggin & Williams, $4 000 in C S Pearl's, and $4 000 in J S Ricker & Son's The origin of the fire is unknown, but is ascribed by many to spontaneous combustion.

THE WRECK OF THE OCEAN BRIDE.

Arrival in Bangor of the Crew of the Sunken Vessel

The schooner Cadet, Capt. Bradford L Rowe, of Swan Island, arrived in port about five o'clock, yesterday afternoon, and now lies in the Kenduskeag stream just in the rear of Rice, Skinner & Co's On board the Cadet are four men who belonged to the schooner Ocean Bride, sunk last week off Libby Island, in the vicinity of Machias. The party comprises Capt McLellan, Isaac Smith, the mate, Wm Smith, a seaman, and Henry McGowen, steward.

In conversation with a WHIG representative Capt McLellan says he was bound from New York to St John with a cargo of coal, when on the night of Thursday last in the vicinity of the midnight hour, while intense darkness prevailed and the weather was very thick and foggy, his craft, the Ocean Bride, and the three-masted schooner, Mary A Killen, of Thomaston, collided. The latter vessel lost jibboom and part of her head gear. The Ocean Bride was struck with great force and sunk within five minutes of the collision One of the crew, Wm. Collins, of Black Rock, N. S, was drowned and the remainder of the men had a narrow escape

The Ocean Bride was about 110 tons in measurement and was owned in St. John, N. B. The crew of the sunken vessel were taken on board the Mary A. Killen and on Saturday last were transferred near Mt. Desert Rock to the Cadet, on which craft they came to Bangor

New Publications

We have just received a work published by Lee & Shepard, Boston, entitled, "Longfellow, His Life, Works and Friendships," by George Lowell Austin. It is a handsome crown octavo volume of over 400 pages with 32 illustrations, including several portraits, besides numerous facsimiles of poems in manuscript. The author, who enjoyed the friendship of the beloved Poet says.

The suggestion was duly considered and the project seemed to me to be at that time perfectly feasible. Upon making known to Mr. Longfellow my decision it was at once agreed that we should begin with his own literary life and works At intervals he gave me much of his valuable time, and I very carefully gathered from his lips my memoranda. The removal of the poet to his summer home at Nahant naturally suspended the interviews, and while I hoped to continue my pleasant labors in the autumn of 1877, other duties of a personal nature interfered, and at length forced me to confess, in response to repeated inquiries of Mr. Longfellow, my inability at the time to complete the plan which he had so kindly proposed.

After the death of Mr. Longfellow, Mr Austin was urged to resume the task and it was carried forward to completion. The venerable Prof. Packard, of Bowdoin College, writes:

After such examination as I have been able to give, I would express my appreciation of this effort to "present a picture of the poet's literary life" Evidently drawn by a loving and faithful hand and with more detail than I have met with elsewhere, it will ... heartily in ... all admirers of the poet who has ... himself to me to ...

This work which will undoubtedly command a large sale, will be ... only by subscription only Mr. J. Q Hayward, the general agent for Maine, is now stopping at 125 Hammond street. Persons wishing to secure subscription ... for any district in the state can do so by communicating with him.

WHAT NEW ENGLAND'S FAVORITE NEWSPAPER SAYS REGARDING THE GREAT FOREPAUGH SHOW

The Boston Journal furnishes the following detailed account of the attractions of the Great Forepaugh Show, which is coming here June 30th It closed a season of ten days in Boston, Thursday, June 7

OPENING OF FOREPAUGH'S CIRCUS, MENAGERIE AND HIPPODROME

The great Forepaugh show of menagerie, circus and hippodrome opened a ten days' season in this city at the Coliseum Grounds yesterday, and gave afternoon and evening performances. The evening performance was large, and that of the afternoon tremendous. The show opened under excellent auspices, and as it is the only large menagerie and circus combination that is coming to Boston this season, it is sure to be generously patronized Whether Mr Forepaugh's show will draw as well as Barnum's, which exhibited to immense houses here last season, remains to be seen The name of Barnum is a familiar and potent one to conjure with and in circus life if not elsewhere, there is much in a name. Forepaugh's show clearly surpasses Barnum's, however The exhibition of wild animals in the present case is very large, important and comprehensive The variety is great, and all the specimens are unusually vigorous, healthy and truly representative of their various species when seen at their best There is no "Jumbo" among the elephants, to be sure, but the largest of the herd of twenty five which Mr Forepaugh owns is evidently nearly, if not quite as heavy and bulky, and only lacks 'Jumbo's' long legs to make him the equal in all respects of that popular favorite. Among the other animals that are especially worthy of mention may be named an unusually large and beautiful giraffe, several large and healthy lions, tigers, common and black panthers, a number of camels, a large rhinoceros and hippopotamus several cages of hyenas, black and grizzly bears, an emeu cassowary and other rare birds a large and varied collection of parrots cockatoos and other brilliant plumaged varieties several beautiful zebras and other strange beasts without number Add to these a herd of the smallest ponies ever seen in this city—beautiful little animals and a perpetual delight to the children who visit the show—and it will be seen that this part of the attractions is in itself sufficient to repay a visit.

The performance in the main tent, which will accommodate an audience of 16 000 persons, calls into action a large force of principals and auxiliaries All the appointments are unusually complete, the animals are spirited clean and well kept, the costumes of the performers are all new and made in excellent taste in the matter of shape and color, and not the least attraction and an unusual feature of a circus performance, the brass band which furnishes the music is excellently made up, and adds greatly by its fine playing to the interest of the entertainments As more people probably are interested in the less of trained animals than in any other single feature of a circus performance, it may be well to speak first of the performing horses, elephants and ponies Two herds of elephants one composed of the largest the other of the smallest animals in the menagerie, go through a number of evolutions military drill, etc, with great precision and intelligence, play at see saw, form pyramids, roll barrels and perform many other feats, and a school of beautiful black or white horses, and the ponies above mentioned as among the menagerie attractions, perform all the tricks with which former years have made us familiar Miss Lizzie Deacon's very handsome and spirited saddle horse, which she rides with quite unsurpassable address and grace must also be mentioned as constituting one of the chief attractions in this department The bare-back riding by Hugh and James Lloyd, Jeronimo Bell, Senoritas Adelaide Cordona and Lizzie Auguzzi and Misses Lottie Aymar and Clara Cooke is of a high order of merit very dashing and confident, and introducing some new and startling feats of equestrianism. One of the most remarkable performances is that of the Japanese rope-walker who, with no other balance than that afforded him by a large umbrella, walks backward up a tight-rope to the top of the tent and then slides rapidly down still standing erect, as if such a feat was the merest common place—as to him it doubtless is. Very thrilling feats are also performed on the trapeze by the Silbons, who take long and perilous flights through the air, and conclude their performance by one of them leaping from the top of the tent and catching by the hands of another as he swings rapidly to and fro at least thirty feet below him. This feat is one of the most exciting and skillful that has ever been seen here. Leonati's ride up a narrow and spiral path to the top of the tent on a bicycle, and, still more perilous, his descent by the same means, is also very exciting, and the element of peril which enters into it is evident from the performer's own care and circumspection Another great attraction is George Jagendorfer, whose feats of strength easily eclipse any that have ever before been seen here and in addition to him appear performers on slack wires, rolling spheres, etc, etc Altogether the ring and special performances cannot easily be surpassed The entertainments conclude with Roman standing and chariot races, flat and hurdle races for men and women riders, elephant and camel races etc, all of which are hotly contested and very exciting. The horses engaged in these matches are English thorough-breds and they are mounted by most experienced riders

PERSONAL AND MISCELLANEOUS

Six hundred emigrants, aided by the government, left Galway, Ireland, for America, Friday

The Canadian Wimbledon team has been selected Lieutenant Colonel Otter, of Toronto, will be in command.

The will of Hosea Webster, the president of the Brooklyn Savings Bank, was admitted to probate, Saturday. The property, which amounts to upward of $1,000,000, he leaves to his relatives.

The Gaiety Theatre at Manchester Eng, which was devoted to variety entertainments, was destroyed by fire Saturday afternoon There was no one in the building when the fire broke out

The trial of the six young men charged with assault upon Henry Barrell, was concluded at Woodstock, Vt, Saturday night, and the jury returned a verdict of assault with intent to kill against all the respondents.

While some Turkish engineers were recently making excavations beneath the citadel of Aleppo, they came upon a large wrought-iron breech-loading cannon, which must have been buried for at least 250 years The mechanism is almost exactly similar to that which Krupp, of Germany applies to his cannon and the gun bears the name of its Turkish maker So reports the St James Gazette

The Balloon Society, of London, is sending up small balloons, each bearing self registering instruments for noting the altitude and velocity, also a post card, with an address in German, French and English with a request that the finder of the machine would forward it without delay with a note as to the time and place where found The society hopes by such means to be able to establish in course of time fixed direction and velocity of currents in the different strata at certain times of the year

The Hessian fly has appeared in places in Northampton county, N Y, and in Warren county, N J, and seems to be prevailing Farmers though not noticing evil effects in any marked degree, say their grain crops which at present look so very promising, will be seriously endangered should the fly multiply Corn is also causing anxiety owing to rot, and entire fields are being replanted The cause of the rot is attributed by some to the use of phosphate as a fertilizer, and by others to unsound seed

Jumbo is creating much delight among the innocent citizens of Chicago One of his duties is to carry passengers especially of the little people A little girl who had tested his powers as a steed, thought she would reward him with peanuts, and ran to procure them Jumbo who had been headed south, reversed his position while she was away and the little one came running back breathless and reached out her offering toward the tail gable in blissful innocence of the change "Oh, dear," she said a moment later "I thought this was the other end"

A few days since, while a party of loggers were felling trees on Salmon creek, Forrest county, one of them a Swede accidentally found himself in the way of a falling tree which he was unable to avoid. His fellow-workmen rushed forward as the tree struck the ground, and found the man quite dead with a limb of the tree sticking through his body, the limb having evidently passed through his heart and killed him instantly It was impossible to withdraw it without mutilating the body, and so the limb was sawed off on each side and the remains buried with a stick of wood running through his vitals

West Point Hotel has a register which is both unique and mysterious The pages are filled with entries like these

June 2 Smith—Verbal permit, two and one half hours Aunt and uncle

June 6 Brown—Permit to visit ladies 3 to 5 P M Two cousins

This means that no cadet is allowed to visit the hotel which is on Government grounds, without a permit and without registering the time of his arrival his business and character of permit The system works so well that it might be recommended to the ordinary hotel for the purpose of relieving anxious relatives as to the young man's whereabouts

Tuesday morning as the Brewster and Waterbury local freight on the New England road was approaching the bridge from the west, says the Danbury (Ct) News Engineer Allen discovered a young lady named Hodshon, walking on the bridge being about midway across and between the rails The girl seemed transfixed with fright for a second, after which she seemed to realize the immediate danger she was in and started to run to the end of the bridge, but had only taken a few steps when she slipped and fell on the ties In the mean time the engineer of the train had called for down brakes and had reversed the engine, but owing to the grade, an immediate stop at that point was impossible The girl succeeded in regaining her feet just as the locomotive reached the end of the bridge, then came the chase for life Persons who witnessed the occurrence were horror stricken at the scene, as death seemed to stare her in the face, but she reached the end of the bridge first and as she jumped to one side and fell prostrate to the ground, the locomotive passed by her brushing her clothing as it did so

WOMAN SUFFRAGE

At the Annual Meeting of the New England Woman Suffrage Association held in Tremont Temple, Boston in Anniversary week the following resolutions were adopted —

Resolved That we reaffirm the principle of representative government for all classes of citizens, and demand its application to women We arraign the political aristocracy of sex as contrary to nature, reason justice, expediency and common-sense, we denounce the double standard of morals as at war with domestic purity and public virtue, and we pledge ourselves to continued effort for the establishment of Republican government and true democracy in New England.

Resolved, That an active Woman Suffrage Society in every New England State is essential to the efficient prosecution of our movement, by circulating petitions and appealing to the Legislatures. We congratulate Rhode Island and Massachusetts upon the activity of their State Associations, we invite the State Societies of Maine, New Hampshire and Connecticut to renewed effort, and we especially urge the formation of a State Society in Vermont as an important work for this Association during the coming year.

Resolved That we welcome the "well-descended" Remonstrants as new and effective allies in our great work of arousing women to their political duties; we see in their recent expression of adverse political opinion an indication of the increasing interest of women in public affairs, which is of the very essence of suffrage, and we regard their opposition as a powerful additional argument for the suffrage which they deprecate.

Resolved, That we respectfully invite the opponents of Impartial Suffrage to meet us before the people in a free and full discussion of this great question, and we request our executive committee to arrange for such discussions whenever and wherever practicable.

Resolved, That Woman Suffrage should be made a political issue, irrespective of party lines, in the nomination and election of legislators and Governors, and that no anti-suffrage candidate for these positions should ever again receive the votes of the Suffragists of New England.

Resolved, That the recent movements by the governments of Canada and Italy to extend suffrage to women is a subject of hearty congratulation.

Resolved, That the good results of woman suffrage wherever established, in the old world or in the new,—in England, Scotland, Holland, and Wyoming, and in the School Suffrage of twelve States,—are the pledge and guaranty of its final triumph everywhere

Resolved, That the Suffragists of each and every State in New England should concentrate their labors upon securing full municipal suffrage for women, and should use their most strenuous efforts to get such a law enacted by their coming Legislature

AYER'S
Hair Vigor
restores, with the gloss and freshness of youth, faded or gray hair to a natural rich brown color, or deep black as may be desired By its use light or red hair may be darkened, thin hair thickened, and baldness often though not always cured

It checks falling of the hair and stimulates a weak and sickly growth to vigor. It prevents and cures scurf and dandruff, and heals nearly every disease peculiar to the scalp. As a Ladies Hair Dressing the Vigor is unequalled it contains neither oil nor dye renders the hair soft glossy and silken in appearance and imparts a delicate agreeable and lasting perfume

Mr C P BRICHER writes from Kirby, O, July 3 1882 "Last fall my hair commenced falling out, and in a short time I became nearly bald. I used part of a bottle of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, which stopped the falling of the hair and started a new growth I have now a full head of hair growing vigorously and am convinced that but for the use of your preparation I should be entirely bald"

J W BOWEN proprietor of the McArthur (Ohio) Enquirer says "AYER'S HAIR VIGOR is a most excellent preparation for the hair. I speak of it from my own experience. Its use promotes the growth of new hair, and makes it glossy and soft. The Vigor is also a sure cure for dandruff. Not within my knowledge has the preparation ever failed to give entire satisfaction"

Mr ANGUS FAIRBAIRN, leader of the celebrated Fairbairn Family of Scottish Vocalists writes from Boston, Mass Feb 6 1880 "Ever since my hair began to give silvery evidence of the change which fleeting time procureth, I have used AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, and so have been able to maintain an appearance of youthfulness—a matter of considerable consequence to ministers, orators actors and in fact every one who lives in the eyes of the public"

Mrs O A PRESCOTT writing from 18 Elm St, Charlestown, Mass April 14 1882, says "Two years ago about two-thirds of my hair came off. It thinned very rapidly and I was fast growing bald. On using AYER'S HAIR VIGOR the falling stopped and a new growth commenced and in about a month my head was completely covered with short hair It has continued to grow and is now as good as before it fell I regularly used but one bottle of the Vigor, but now use it occasionally as a dressing"

We have hundreds of similar testimonials to the efficacy of AYER'S HAIR VIGOR. It needs but a trial to convince the most skeptical of its value.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette

A Western paper remarks that her face was her fortune and that one could not survey its placid and gracious outline and fail to be convinced that [illegible] ought to buy what it blessed with its approval and told you where to buy. RUBBER BELTING.
Important to all who use Belting.
We have just patented a new article in Rubber Belting which is sold under the name of GIANT BELTING.
This Belting is put with the usual plies of Duck and Rubber, and before putting on the outside cover it is stitched in seams one inch apart, with cotton cord, which has a pulling strength of fifty pounds It is then stretched in its plastic state, drawing the plies so close together that with the strong cord with which it is stitched, material strength is added to the belt, and the stitches are so drawn into the plastic rubber, that they cannot wear off on the outside. The outside cover is then put on seamless, so that it cannot open, as is the case of Rubber Belting made in the ordinary way, and the plies being so firmly stitched as well as frictioned together, that the belt cannot separate as many belts made in the ordinary way will, after being used for a time, especially when run at great speed or in damp places.
We particularly call the attention of all mill owners to this belt as being in the end the cheapest belt they can buy, while the first cost is only about ten per cent. more than belting made in the ordinary way We believe it will wear more than double the length of time. For heavy main belts you will find it superior to anything made It is also superior for Endless Belts, as we stitch the splice in such a way that it cannot separate.
Try our Giant Belts. We will warrant satisfaction

Advertising Cheats!!!

"It has become so common to write the beginning of an article, in an elegant, interesting manner,

"Then run it into some advertisement that we avoid all such,

"And simply call attention to the merits of Hop Bitters in as plain, honest terms as possible,

"To induce people

"To give them one trial, which so proves their value that they will never use anything else"

"THE REMEDY so favorably noticed in all the papers,

"Religious and secular, is

"Having a large sale, and is supplanting all other medicines

"There is no denying the virtues of the Hop plant, and the proprietors of Hop Bitters have shown great shrewdness

"And ability

"In compounding a medicine whose virtues are so palpable to every one's observation

Did She Die?

"No!

"She lingered and suffered along, pining away all the time for years,"

"The doctors doing her no good

"And at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about

"Indeed! Indeed!"

"How thankful we should be for that medicine"

A Daughter's Misery.

"Eleven years our daughter suffered on a bed of misery,

"From a complication of kidney, liver, rheumatic trouble and Nervous debility,

Under the care of the best physicians,

"Who gave her disease various names,

"But no relief,

And now she is restored to us in good health by as simple a remedy as Hop Bitters, that we had shunned for years before using it."—THE PARENTS

Father is Getting Well.

"My daughters say

"How much better father is since he used Hop Bitters"

He is getting well after his long suffering from a disease declared incurable

And we are so glad that he used your Bitters" A LADY of Utica, N Y.

PLAIN WORDS
Are Best to Express the Suffering so Long Endured by a most Excellent Lady, Mrs. C. Fisher, 29 Clark St., New Haven, Conn. Her Kind and Grateful Expression towards the Means that Afforded Relief.
Facts clothed in plain words are best. Mrs. George Fisher lives in a pleasant cottage at 29 Clark st New Haven, Conn She says "I was a terrible sufferer from Liver disease for a period of twelve years My family physician told me that it was chronic inflammation of the Liver I tried a great many remedies recommended for liver difficulties I was under the physician's care a great deal but could get no relief, until I began taking Dr Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY I experienced relief at once, and to day I'm enjoying good health through the use of this I had also been a great sufferer from rheumatism in my limbs and shoulders but I have been cured entirely through the use of FAVORITE REMEDY I consider Dr Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY a most excellent medicine. I know of many in this city who have received great benefit from the use of FAVORITE REMEDY It is, sir, a good medicine I know it, for I've tried it."
Mrs Fisher is a lady of character and means what she says
Grateful patients are common Dr Kennedy is daily in receipt of letters from them expressing similar sentiments These letters are spontaneous and put in all varieties of phraseology, but invariably setting forth one thing—the value of Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY for many forms of disease It may be just the thing you have been looking for Is your liver disordered?
